Mrs. Forbes-Robertson Hale.

An invitation to speak in Norwich has been extended to Mrs. Forbes-Robertson Hale by the Norwich Equal Franchise League, and Mrs. Hale will be heard in the Town Hall, on Tuesday February first, at eight o'clock.

It is doubtful whether an abler speaker has been heard in Norwich. The niece of Sir Johnson Forbes-Robertson, and the youngest member of a family that for three generations has held a distinguished place in English dramatic and literary life, it was but natural that Miss Forbes-Robertson should find herself on the stage early in life.

COLONIAL THEATRE.

Nat Goodwin Appearing in "The Master Hand," Five Reels, World Film. There is a new and exclusive fea-ire film of five reels at the Colonial theatre every day, so everyone can see all the big favorites in the respective successes, every day of the week and keep in touch with the larger and more successes, every day of the week and keep in touch with the larger and more interesting dramatic events as presented on the screen. For today, Nat Goodwin, the "good fellow" of the stage, a man whose eminence on the legitimate stage no one can deny, is seen in a World film feature; the features that have set all Norwich talking, and is entitled The Master Hand, a story telling of a certain James Ralliston, who married a wealthy widow, who is an invalid with one daughter, Jean. Assisted by a woman doctor, the husband succeeds in getting the wife placed in a sanitarium maintained by an unscrupulous doctor, and immediately proceeds to enjoy the wife's wealth. Contrary to expectations, the wife regains her health, and Raliston meanwhile endeavors to have Jean, the daughter, marry an old triand of his, Bigelow (Nat Goodwin). Bigelow suspects the scheme, and plans a campaign to regain the lost fortune of the daughter. This he accomplishes and is able to return in [uli the funds belonging to the girl, and stolen hy her money-mad stentune of the daughter. This he accomplishes and is able to return in full the funds belonging to the girl, and stolen by her money-mad steplather. Then he disguises himself, and obtaining admission to the sandarium, rescues Mrs. Raliston. The tesper of the institute takes to flight, and Paliston is killed in one of the most sensational of automobile accidents. The woman dottor confesses her part of the crime, mother and issughter are reunited and the girl harries the man of her choice.

This is the fourth week of mammoth all-star features in five reels. Comorrow is Captivating Mary Cartairs, five reels, with Norma Talmadse.

VIOLINIST SPALDING AT SLATER HALL FEB. 4

Greatest American Violinist by Common Consent Will Be Heard Here for First Time.

The next and final number in the brief stay. Slater hall musical course for this sea son, will be a violin recital by Al-bert Spalding, who will make his first appearance before a Norwich audience, is indisputably recognized as the foremost of American violinists in range of technique, quality of tone, large understanding and quick feeling of the music and just and moving power in the revelation of it. The New York Sun has the following criticism of a recent recital given by Mr. Spalding in that city.

"Albert Spalding, the distinguished American violinist, gave a recital yesterday afternoon in Aeolian hall. Some years ago this artist began a career whose promise appeared to be only moderate, but deep seriousness of purpose, unflagging zeal and devotion have brought about beautiful results. After a growth slow and steady and a normal maturing of powers Mr. Spalding has raised himself to a place in the front rank of violinists. He is a credit to himself, to his country and to his art. From displaying only a fine technical finish his playing has come to have interpretative qualities of high importance. In beauty of tone and correctness of style he commands constant admiration, while his read-ings draw forth warm praise for their delicate appreciation. His perform-ance in the fine sonata of Cesar Franck was one to call for general applause for its fullness of musical beau-ty and its nice attention to the details of the composer's offering It had breadth, depth and sincerity to commend it. In the Bach music Mr Spalding again showed his understandng by an interpretation which wanted ing by an interpretation which wanted nothing of the reflective feeling of the master and concealed not a whit of that airy fancy which breathes through the captivating bourree."

Tickets for the Spalding recital are now on sale at the store of George A. Davis. Admission $1. All seats reserved.

AT THE AUDITORIUM.

Lou Tellegen in "The Explorer" and Three Fine Acts Today.

For the first three days of the week the management of the Auditorium has booked three excellent vaudeville numbers and the five part Paramount picture feature Lou Tellegen in The Explorer, William Somerset Maughan's famous novel of Central Africa, pro-duced by the Jesse L. Lasky Feature Play company, The scenes of The Explorer carry the audience from the center of fashionable London to the heart of the African jungles. Here the expedition, owing to a number of peculiar cirumstances, is attacked by the natives and is forced to fight its way through to the coast. These battle scenes, taken at the ford of a native river, are said to be most realistic and thrilling. When the horde of blacks swoop down upon the small stockade, defended by ne lone white man, most unusual in idents occur.

Mr. Tellegen is supported by such

Mr. Tellegen is supported by such well knowe artists as James Neili, Dorothy Davenport, Horace B. Carpenter, Tom Forman and other members of the all-star Lasky cast.

The scenes in a native African village, with its hundreds of inhabitants, are absolutely true to life and complete in every detail

On the vaudeville program wi be Kelly and Berg, in a comedy singing and dancing skit, Walters & Sherman doing a very neat plane specialty, and Bob Hart and Company who present a comedy sketch for which they carry special scenery and effects.

And a Little Action

For A Few Cents

Perhaps for weeks you have enjoyed the sensation of having a house, room, office, barn, etc., unrented. You have often thought of the little Bulletin Want Ad. which would have secured the tenant, but the thought of the cost has deterred you.

You did not realize that a three-line ad three days in The Bulletin costs only 45c and for one week only 90 cents.

You did not realize that one day's rent pays for an ad and one week's rent pays for several weeks' adver-

These thoughts once fixed in your mind would have impelled you at once to call 480, The Bulletin Co.

The results take care of the cost.

THE ROSE AND THORN. God made the rose—I know it well—But sometimes, when my hand is torn It is so hard to understand
He made as well the cruel thorn.
—Arthur Goodenough, in Springfield Republican.

THE HOUSE OF DREAMS.

Beyond the hills, behind the dawn, across the Seventh Sea.

There is a moonlit garden, less, that waits for you and me.

Where past the River Lethe flows, and by its brooding streams

That lovers know, the pupples blow, It is the House o' Dreams.

And when our hearts are weary, and when our eyes are blind,
With tears of ellent corrowings for loves we've left behind,
Deep do we drink upon its brink, until
our fingers meet,
And all the past is sone at last, And,
oh, the draft is sweet!

The heights are high, oh, love o' mine, beyond the vales of pain.
Yet shall we seek the utmost peak again and yet again;
The paths to God our feet have trod shall lead, like unto thee—Beyond the hills, behind the dawn, across the Seven Seas.

—Kendall Banning, in Cornhill Booklet.
